

: Graph RAG backend selection decision tree. The choice depends on data volume, deployment constraints, and query complexity. NetworkX provides zero-setup prototyping, Kùzu enables embedded local research, Neo4j scales to production, and Graphiti supports temporal episodic memory for long-running agents. See Table ?? for detailed comparison.

